From the Editor

David Farmer #2277

Well I guess the big news in this issue of Generations is the new look! Wait, which new look, mine or Generations? Well you can decide, but really Generations is the big item.

This is the first attempt at making Generations more readable on-line and a more colourful, fun journal. I don't know if it works or not, so please provide feedback. Wherever possible, we have tried to start each new article or feature on a new page. Pages are predominantly a single column, so no more scrolling up and down to read an entire article. Some colour has been added, some new fonts used, in an attempt to 'spiff' up the look of the Journal. Some things have been removed and some new ones added, all to make the Journal more interactive and better suited to an online environment.

We still have the same features, authors and items, hopefully in a more appealing presentation. But please provide feedback, positive or negative; changes can be made. You can contact me and share your thoughts.

As for my new look, well, we will see how that long that lasts too.

Enjoy the issue.

President's Message

Jayne Paradis #0045

As I am writing this, it seems that spring has finally arrived. The days are getting warmer and longer.

The April Council meeting was held once again in Portage la Prairie. It seemed to be a productive meeting and it is hoped that we can continue to do this in the future.

By the time you read this, the Annual General Meeting (AGM) will have occurred. Most of our current Executive members have had their current positions for 4 years. It takes a lot of wonderful volunteers to make MGS operate – helping keeping the library open, keeping our Facebook and our web pages updated, indexing books and updating MANI are few of the many ways our volunteers help MGS.

I hope that summer is warm and sunny and good to everyone!

This issue was tough to find an appropriate cover page item, what with copyrights, suitability, relative to Manitoba genealogy, etc. So, with all the current chatter about re-opening the Portage and Main intersection to pedestrian traffic (what could be more Winnipeg and more Manitoba than Portage and Main?), I thought some old photos of the famous intersection would be appropriate. It does have a history! (The photos are ‘borrowed’ from various web sites hosting collections of historic Manitoba photos.)

To access KOHA , the MGS Card Catalogue, please use the following link:

<http://koha-opac.bole.ca/>

The MGS Library is still discarding books, but we will not be putting up lists, sorry folks. We found that the discarded books were gone before the list was up on our web site or in Generations. We do have a dedicated number of shelves for the purpose of displaying them at the MGS Office. Just come in and check them out. They are free!!

We have had no problems or complaints with the discarding. We check to make sure that the item or information is available elsewhere, i.e. Winnipeg Public Library, Ancestry, etc. before it is taken off KOHA. Some of our books are just not of genealogical interest.

We are not discarding any Local History Books, one of our most popular attractions.

A policy was set quite a few years ago that we would keep Journal exchanges for 5 years and then go through the articles and keep any that have a list of names (e.g. soldiers, inn keepers, cemeteries, train conductors, etc.). These are very valuable lists and not used enough. They are not the same as the information on the big on-line databases: Ancestry, Find My Past, Family Search, etc.

If you look for just Miscellaneous in KOHA you will find 326 hits. I found miscellaneous records which included: Métis, Ireland, France, Texas, Scotland, Iceland, etc. and a Miscellaneous Saskatchewan Cemetery file.

The Journal of the Manitoba Genealogical Society

The articles are put in binders in the appropriate section of the library under the heading Miscellaneous. For example, check out Métis on KOHA:

Title: Métis - miscellaneous records

Call Number: Manitoba 970.3 MET

I have to admit I also like to search Ancestry, Family Search, etc. but it's time for us to "Look Outside the Box" and come into the MGS library and just browse.

Paraprosdokian sentences: A paraprosdokian is a figure of speech in which the latter part of a sentence or phrase is surprising or unexpected in a way that causes the reader or listener to reframe or reinterpret the first part. It is frequently used for humorous or dramatic effect, sometimes producing an anticlimax. For example:

- Going to church doesn't make you a Christian any more than standing in a garage makes you a car.
- Knowledge is knowing a tomato is a fruit; wisdom is not putting it in a fruit salad.

Place Names Outside of Canada

Finding out where our ancestors lived, and gaining some knowledge of those places, is an interesting part of genealogy. Book Reviews

*These books have recently been added to the MGS library collection and are available for loan.
(Ask about low postage rates for out-of-town Canadian members.)*

Letters from Lea: a story based on, and including, actual letters written in 1932 and 1933, by Terry Létienne. Victoria, BC, c2016. 219 p. MGS library call number FH & BIO 921 MAH.

Lea, a young mother of two little children, spent many months in the hospital in Souris, Manitoba, and then in the Sanatorium at Ninette.. During that time, she wrote many longing letters to her husband and mother. Written in French, the letters were forgotten for years, until Jean Mahy, her grandson, arranged to have them translated. The translator, Terry Létienne, has done a fine job of writing a fictionalized version of Lea's story, in which the reader can learn much about rural life in Manitoba during the 1930s.

The library has recently received two fascinating books by Winnipeg resident Harry McFee:

For We Were Young and We Had Wings by Harry McFee. C2004. 552 p. Illus. MGS library call no. CANADA 940.54 MCF

"A tribute to those who volunteered to restore peace in the world." In this book, McFee focuses on Canadians who served in the Air Force during World War II. It is a collection of stories of one woman and 14 men, who were from Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The stories include various combinations of information including service records, personal memoirs and letters. The book is generously illustrated with numerous photographs, newspaper clippings, documents, maps, poems and stories. The accounts vary in length and amount of detail, but all honour the contributions of the individuals to that terrible war.

Oh, Silent Cross: Stories Assembled by Harry F. McFee. c2016. 726 p. Photos. MGS library call number CANADA 940.54 MCF2

This volume contains the stories of over twenty military personnel who served in the Canadian Army during World War II. Some survived and some became fatalities. Mr. McFee has compiled a remarkable amount of information besides the individual stories, including the name of the regiment in which they served, dates of service, letters they sent home to their families, newspaper clippings, maps and accounts of battles, poems written by the soldiers, and many, many photographs. Besides this information, there are lists of Canadian Army units in NW Europe, decorations and awards, names of those who were awarded the Victoria Cross (both World Wars). As well, there is a listing of the members of the South Saskatchewan Regiment who took part in the Dieppe raid in 1942. Anyone who had family members who served in Europe during World War II will find this to be a fascinating book.

Submitted by Virginia Braid, President

On May 14 the Southeast & Winnipeg Branch held its Annual General Meeting. The following were elected by acclamation for the 2018-2019 term:

President – Virginia Braid

1st.Vice President- Barbara Becker

2nd.Vice President- Sheila Woods

Secretary – Jill Glover

Councillors -Ted Becker, Maureen Corkal, Kathleen Kristjansson

The Branch also had several changes made to its By Laws. Most of the changes were of a “housekeeping” nature.

The Certificate of Appreciation was given to Oriole Veldhuis for her support of the Southeast & Winnipeg Branch by giving many presentations and by sharing her gift of story-telling with us. Another fine example of the quality volunteers that serve the Branch and MGS. Congratulations!

Christine Hanlon was our presenter and she talked about her book, “Out of Old Manitoba Kitchens”. Christine told how she researched for the book and read some interesting stories from the book. She touched on how genealogy research helped her tell the many stories in her book.

South West Branch MGS Celebrates 40th Anniversary

The South West Branch celebrated its 40th Anniversary by hosting a reception on April 20, 2018 at the Commonwealth Air Training Plan Museum in Brandon. President George Mackay welcomed over 40 people in attendance. The evening featured a slide presentation of highlights from Branch activities over the last several years.

The following tribute was made in honour of Jack Dodds, a long-time member of the Branch, who passed away on August 12, 2017. His family was in attendance and helped to unveil the Branch's new banner, dedicated to Jack.

Tribute to Jack Dodds

The following is a transcript of the tribute to Jack made by Laura Crookshanks:

It is an honour for me to have the opportunity to pay tribute to Jack this evening.

Jack joined the South West Branch in 2001 and was always very active in Branch activities. He contributed to our Branch in so many ways. I will outline only a few: Jack was Vice-President of Administration; he was instrumental in helping to move our resource library to Knox United Church; he was editor of The New Leaf for many years and; He received the Ruth Tester Award in 2012. Jack continued to come out to regular meetings even after experiencing health issues.

One of the major contributions Jack made in the last several years was in dealing with research requests received by the Branch. He was always very thorough about following up every lead, and checking all the sources he could think of. But he always hated to charge people for his time! When the Branch established a policy around research fees, he willingly did the research, but I remember one time, when I was President, he said to me "you can charge them if you like, but I really didn't do that much". Meanwhile, I knew he had spent several hours on the research. If Jack didn't find it, it probably wasn't there!

Jack was proud of his roots in the Birtle area and would happily share information about Birtle and surrounding area, as well as all the numerous people he knew there. On a personal note, when he found out I had ancestors from the Birtle area, he connected me with a cousin I did not know about and kept prodding me to go and see him. His gentle reminders worked and it was a very meaningful meeting for me, one that I would not have experienced without Jack's knowledge, but just as importantly, was his interest in helping me.

Jack partnered with Fred McGuinness for several years. Jack would drive Fred around the countryside to their events. Fred did the "Writing Your Memoirs" part of their gig and Jack covered the genealogy piece. They were a good pair and their sessions were always well-received.

Jack was a true community person – he was involved with organizations such as the Optimist Club, the United Way, Heart and Stroke, Canadian Mental Health Association and Civil Air Search and Rescue, as well as being active in union activities. It was amazing to listen to him, how much he knew about this area, and how many people he knew – all over southwestern Manitoba.

As I reflect on Jack's involvement with the South West Branch, there are several words that come to mind: well-liked, ready-smile, always willing to help anyone. He had a natural curiosity about whatever puzzle or roadblock you faced and how he might help you along.

The South West Branch is much richer for Jack's input and his influence will continue to be felt as we grow and develop – his hand will be seen in many of our future endeavors.

The evening concluded with cake, refreshments and the renewing of acquaintances and the sharing of memories.

4. Awards – The following awards were presented to several well-deserving volunteers:

Each year, MGS selects well-deserving Volunteers and presents awards named after previous MGS members. Each award winner exhibits the quality attributes for which the Award is named. Following are the Award Winners for 2018:

JOAN WHISTON VOLUNTEER AWARD

VP Administration Ginny Braid presenting the Joan Whiston Award to Stephanie Wood, June 2, 2018.

STEPHANIE WOOD #5549

Stephanie Wood is an ideal nominee for this award. Stephanie has only been with MGS since 2016, but she has been an exemplary volunteer and in her quiet way has influenced MGS' connection with its patrons.

Stephanie works on the Tuesday shift and often arrives before ten to open the office and get things settled before the other volunteers arrive. The fact that she often comes on the bus and lives a good distance from the Resource Centre has not been a deterrent to her dedication. One of Stephanie's duties is to look after the front desk and phone. She always greets our patrons with a friendly hello whether it is in person or on the telephone. She is helpful to them with their requests. Stephanie is very approachable with the other volunteers and keeps the Tuesday people calm and collective just like she is.

Stephanie never complains about the work she is assigned, such as sorting, cataloguing, photocopying, working on the computer or shelving books, but always does her tasks cheerfully and diligently. She is able to take the initiative and move forward with her responsibilities. While Stephanie may not be a seasoned volunteer, the way she performs her duties makes it seem that she is a veteran volunteer. She has time and time again demonstrated her dedication and interest in MGS.

She always has MGS' interests at the forefront just as Joan Whiston did.

FLORENCE COX AWARD

VP Administration Ginny Braid presenting the Florence Cox Award to Kathleen Kristjansson, June 2, 2018 at the hospital.

KATHLEEN KRISTJANSSON #5193

Kathleen Kristjansson is an excellent choice for the Florence Cox Award. Kathleen has been a member of MGS and of the Southeast & Winnipeg Branch since 2010.

She has been on the Executive of the Southeast & Winnipeg Branch since 2013 serving as secretary, 2nd Vice-President and as a Councillor. Along with the duties of these positions she has looked after the Branch's Monday night educational programs. Two of these sessions were on Genealogy Software and others on members of her family who have served during WWI.

Kathleen, along with Sheila Woods, has also given two workshops (2014-2015 and 2015-2016) under the auspices of the Winnipeg School Division on 'Beginning Genealogy'. She donated the money earned to MGS. At the request of the Branch, she successfully researched to find relatives and information about two War Veterans. These requests came from letters in the Winnipeg Free Press.

The Journal of the Manitoba Genealogical Society

Kathleen is a faithful volunteer for the Thursday Research group. Kathy has done many successful researches for the Society during her Thursday work. Her research is meticulous and very thorough. She has been able to handle difficult research requests because of the attention to detail and her wide knowledge of genealogy investigation and methods.

Kathleen is a dedicated researcher and member of the Southeast & Winnipeg Branch. She is a very worth recipient of the Florence Cox Award. Kathleen was unable to attend the AGM as she was in the hospital at the time.

VP Administration Ginny Braid presenting the Florence Cox Award to Bonnie Batchelor, June 2, 2018.

BONNIE BATCHELOR #3686

Bonnie Batchelor has been a member of MGS since 2000. She has been an active member of the Thursday volunteer group, running the library along with the Research team, since 2007. As part of her role, Bonnie has looked after the front desk, the duties of which included answering phone calls, welcoming clients, dealing with finances and helping clients who required help with their research.

Bonnie has developed a great knowledge of genealogy from the work she has done for her own family originating in Ontario. She knows where to look on the computers for information and is the only one that seems to be able to find the books the rest of us can't find in the library.

With her friendly personality and her other interests in her birds, fish and plants, Bonnie is very involved in other societies. Mother of two sons, an Airforce wife and a grandmother, Bonnie Batchelor certainly meets the requirements for being awarded the Florence Cox Award.

VP Administration Ginny Braid presenting the Florence Cox Award to Kenda Wood, June 2, 2018.

KENDA WOOD #3968

Kenda is a most commendable candidate for the Florence Cox Award. She has been a member of the Manitoba Genealogical Society since 2001. Kenda first worked as an assistant with the Membership team and in 2015 became the Membership Chair. In this capacity she has overseen changes in the filing of membership information as we switched to MANI and made other computer changes.

Kenda is most cooperative with all members who require membership information. She has worked closely with the Generations Editor, especially with the change to an all-digital format for the journal, helping this shift to go very smoothly.

Kenda gladly helps other Executive members with their concerns.

She also is very quick to answer Branch queries about their membership data. Her membership reports are always in on time, concise and up-to-date. Kenda performs her duties as Membership Chair in a calm, helpful and positive manner.

Kenda is a worthy recipient of the Florence Cox Award.

THE JONASSON AWARD

VP Administration Ginny Braid presenting the Jonasson Award to Enid Dorward June 2, 2018.

ENID DORWARD #4502

Enid Dorward has been a most valuable asset to the MGS Library group. She uses her library training and experience to help guide the work of the other volunteers. She will gladly take on any job assigned, and will seek and carry out other needed duties. She went from shelving periodicals to reviewing them for Generations in the article entitled 'Periodical Potpourri'. She went from filing cards to using our online card catalog. She is knowledgeable about working with KOHA and has catalogued many books.

Enid is particularly good at selecting books that are appropriate for the library and is very familiar with the collection. She reviews the 'new to us' books for Generations.

Enid is very capable when leading group projects. Right now she is in charge of indexing library resources for MANI.

She indexed the local history book Ox Trails to Blacktop, about Oak Lake, Manitoba as well as compiling all obituaries from the Oak Lake Town and Country News from 2009 to the present.

She is recognized as second in command in the library; whenever Mary is absent she is in charge.

Enid is wonderful when working with patrons – and willing to sit and help for great lengths of time. She is ever ready with a listening ear and is never judgmental.

The Tuesday group enjoys working with Enid and without her we wouldn't be able to sing birthday greetings on key!

She is a most deserving winner the Jonasson Award.

Are These Your Ancestors?

The Winnipeg Tribune of August 30, 1906 carried a very detailed story of a shipwreck and sinking on Lake Winnipeg, as a result of a storm described by those who lived near or worked on the lake, as the worst in living memory. The coverage in the Tribune and also in the Winnipeg Free Press of that date, and also the following few days, was detailed and impressive, well worth the read.

The steamer "Princess" was 28 years old and had been completely overhauled and updated some 9 years before the date in late August when it began its last voyage. It was valued at $1,800.

John Hawes, an Orkneyman, captained the ship. At about 60 years of age, he was a very experienced sailor, having made twenty trips across the Atlantic while working for The Hudson's Bay Company. With his wife and a family of children who ranged from two to six years in age, he had made his home in Selkirk since 1883. Recently, his son Alfred had died from typhoid fever, leaving Hawes and his wife with 4 sons and 1 daughter.

Others on the "Princess" were: Charles Greeyes, a Métis deckhand, from the St. Peter's area; Alex Joyce, mate, of Selkirk; Arthur Poole, also of Selkirk, chief engineer; George Freeman and William Booth, both from Selkirk, firemen; William Hope of Selkirk, deck hand; James Starr and John Bird, wheelmen, both from Selkirk; Robert Smith of Poplar Point, deckhand; Flora McDonald aged 17, stewardess; Johanna Jacobson, 20, cook; and passengers Loftus Gudmundson, 50, of Gimli and Joe Einarson/Arenson, 18, an Icelander, Jacob Goodman, James Sinclair, a Métis, his wife and two children, J.M.Olson and Peter Gunnlaugson, all of Selkirk.

The steamer set sail northward on Saturday, August 25. According to survivor George Freeman, it began taking on water during the Saturday afternoon because of waves which measured about 25 feet in height. George's story continued in some detail. By 4 am on Sunday, the two women crew members were awakened, told to dress and were given life belts. By 4.30 am the deck was awash and the steamer broke apart shortly after that. The two women refused assistance from crew members and chose to stay with Captain Hawes in whom they put their faith. Curiously however, the captain did nothing to save himself or assist any of the others. It seemed as if he was resigned to going down with his ship, in the best naval tradition.

Other crew members were able to detach a yawl and a life boat from the sinking steamer. Mate Alex Joyce took command and was able, with the assistance of other crew members, to save many of the remaining passengers, including Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair and their family. At one point Mrs. Sinclair was carrying both her infant and an older child. She threw the baby into the arms of Mate Joyce who was in the yawl, and then tossed her older son. About six others managed to board the yawl. There were 10 people in the lifeboat and another 6 in the other boat. Crew members were heroic in their actions throughout the ordeal. They headed for Swampy Point, about 12 miles away. It took more than two hours to reach land there. The storm which had begun on Saturday afternoon, August 25, continued until Monday morning, August 27.

Back in Selkirk, the ship "City of Selkirk" had set sail northward on its regular run, captained by a man from one of the Dakotas across the border, Captain Thorburn. Crew members noticed the shipwrecked survivors on the shore, waving pieces of their clothing to attract attention. They rescued everyone and gave them food from the provisions they were carrying to northern outposts. Apparently the wreck had occurred 12 miles northwest of Swampy Point which lies 14 miles south of Poplar Point and 100 miles south of Luke's End.

One passenger, W. J. H. Murchison, on vacation on the "City of Selkirk" noted, "It was a most extraordinary thing, survival of a Métis woman weighing about 250 pounds, her baby, her six year old son and her husband."

Although so many survived, six people aboard the "Princess" did not. Captain Hawes chose to stay with his ship to await his fate. The two young female crew members remained with Hawes and so were also lost. A deck hand also perished as did two passengers.

What do we know about those who were lost? Information about Captain Hawes can be seen near the beginning of this story. But what about the others on board that fateful time?

Flora Margaret McDonald was a 17 year old waitress who helped prepare and serve up food to passengers and crew, while also keeping the passengers' quarters tidy. Flora was an orphan with two brothers and a sister who lived with her grandfather. Two uncles lived in Winnipeg – O. Anderson, a printer at the Winnipeg Telegram newspaper, and Mr. McDonald, a contractor who resided at 73 Carlton St. Flora had plans to marry her fiancé, George Hisey in October 1906. George became part of a search party which set out a few days later to look for the missing people.

The Journal of the Manitoba Genealogical Society

Johanna Jacobson was a 20 year old cook who resided in Selkirk and was the daughter of G. Jacobson of Big Island. Nothing more is known about deckhand Charles Greyeyes.

Loftus Gudmundson from Gimli was about 50 years old. He had worked for the Dominion Fish Company and saved up about $1,200 which he had planned to use to return permanently to Iceland. He had no relatives in Canada.

Young Joe Einarson (spelled various ways in reports) was “an Icelander” who had come to the area with his grandfather about a year previously. His parents lived in Moss or Mossey River, Manitoba. His was the first body recovered and he was buried in the Icelandic Cemetery, which one was not mentioned, but it may have been the Lutheran cemetery near Selkirk.

In the August 31 edition of the Winnipeg Tribune, the editorial raised some thought provoking questions. Why did the ship break up? Who might have known about its condition? Why did Captain Hawes choose to go down with his ship? Did the “down with the ship tradition” serve those who worked on ships well? The editorial said that the newspaper did not want to “take anything away from Hawes’ reputation” but thought was that such questions needed answers. It noted, “Heroism that saves lives is infinitely more praiseworthy than heroism or resignation and unavailing self-sacrifice.”

Inquest into the tragedy began in the first week of September and reports in the Tribune indicated that the ship had had two collisions with rocks in the 1906 summer season but the boat had never been examined, as far as was known, after these episodes. A leak was noted in the steamer on the night of the sinking. Evidence from crew members noted that the captain did not seem to think that the situation was serious and never went below decks to check. He also did not take any role in trying to launch the life boat or to assist the passengers in any way.

The Free Press of September 18 reported on the decision of the inquest members. The ship was found to be seaworthy. The first mate, Alexander Joyce, was severely censured because he gave the passengers no time for preparation to leave the steamer and was himself the first to leave it. The ship was undermanned and should have had better inspection of its hull. The owners of the “Princess” should have acted more quickly to organize a search party. A group that did organize a search was unable to locate the bodies of any of the missing passengers or crew in their search. The newspapers did not report success in locating any of the bodies of the victims up to the time of the report of the inquest. Death certificates on the Vital Stats site were only located for Hawes and McDonald.

ANNE LETAIN

THE STORIES YOU FIND

Who's Your Daddy?

After my daughters presented me with an Ancestry DNA kit for my last birthday, I confess to experiencing some degree of apprehension about following through. Although I had created extensive family trees for both my maternal and paternal lines, I was still worried about what I could potentially discover about myself and my personal family roots. So, the pre-paid box to Dublin hovered around my real desktop for at least six weeks mocking me every day for being a DNA chicken.

Finally, I opened the box and read all the instructions – inserting myself digitally into my trees and then spitting into the tiny vial and adding the adjuvant (stabilizer). I dropped it into the mailbox and the results arrived with undue alacrity.

Yes, there were surprises. The first was that my genetic heritage was overwhelmingly Irish! The irony of it all was that my remaining English roots were also “Irish” because my English ancestors had actually migrated to Ireland from Norfolk after Oliver Cromwell assumed power in England. This would explain my relatives’ lack of “Irish” names; although there is no doubt that they were very proud to call themselves Irish everywhere they went in the world.

Not only was I unsettled at my almost purely Irish ancestry, there were other surprises too. To put this in context, you need some understanding of how specific and accurate the DNA results are. This accuracy also explains why we are experiencing a hue and cry about the use of genealogical DNA in cold murder cases.

The efficacy of your DNA results is also enhanced if you provide a basic family tree along with some historical geography. Even without these add-ons, it can still be an eerie experience. Some might even suggest creepy.

Unbeknownst to each other, my husband and his half-brother submitted DNA samples about six months apart. Neither had provided any family documentation; yet each was identified as the other’s closest next of kin with the appropriate number of centimorgans* confirming them as half-siblings.

After this experience, I wasn’t too shocked to discover five people who shared a recent close genetic connection with me (recent implies at the great-grandparent level). Four of the five people had family trees but there was only one tree in common with mine. Scouring my own tree for clues, it appeared pretty likely that the genetic connection was male as there were no suitable females at the correct degree of separation.

So, I began to triangulate the three other trees along with some historical maps of the City of Leeds from the turn of the twentieth century (thanks, John A). From there it wasn’t too difficult to make an educated guess about which one of my great-uncles was appearing on other people’s trees – albeit without a name. Through shared DNA I’ve now gained four new cousins in Edmonton, Olds, and Boston – and we are all the same generation. I’m totally okay, but some of my new cousins may have just discovered they are not who they thought they were.

On a more positive note, DNA has also solved a long-held family mystery about one of my maternal great-aunts. Family myth had it that our great-grandfather was not her father, although our great-grandmother was definitely her mother. One of Aunt Hazel's grand-daughters had her DNA tested and together we discovered that she shared identical DNA circles with me for both of her great-grandparents who are, of course, my great-grandparents. What was unusual was that Aunt Hazel (aged 5) had attended the wedding of her parents in February 1899 in Rusk, Oklahoma. Looks like my aunt was a way ahead of her time.

Doing the DNA dance, I suppose, is not for the faint of heart. It's definitely an adventure into the uncharted no matter how mentally prepared you think you are. Every family has its own myths and legends, secrets and lies and DNA lays them out barefaced and unadorned. For every person who has said to me "I don't need to get my DNA done. We know who our family is." I just wisely nod and agree. But privately, after five years of dedicated genealogical research I know better. There are fault lines in every family – sometimes it is a personal fault but more often it isn't. Usually, it simply comes down to geography, availability, necessity and the ability to hide things by omission. Cultural imperatives also play a big role in what's hidden.

Today, in our hyper-connected universe, hiding information is usually not an option. All of us today have in-boxes inundated with guarantees regarding personal privacy. Yet, we all know that it's largely smoke and mirrors no matter how hard we want to deceive ourselves. For myself, I had to determine where the actual fulcrum was on the spectrum of peril to pleasure in DNA testing. Obviously for me, the pleasure of knowing the truth outweighed the perils of what I might find.

You, well, you'll just have to decide for yourself. Be prepared for an adventure, either way!

* In genetics, a centimorgan or map unit is a unit for measuring genetic linkage. It is defined as the distance between chromosome positions for which the expected average number of intervening chromosomal crossovers in a single generation is 0.01. It is often used to infer distance along a chromosome. However, it is not a true physical distance.

Kenora Great War Project Update

Submitted by Becky Johnson #5389

It's been six years since the launch of the Kenora Great War Project and volunteers continue to research the stories of local men and women who served in the Great War.

The most exciting news since our previous article in the September 2013 issue of Generations, is that we now have our own web site (www.kenoragreatwarproject.ca), thanks to the Lake of the Woods Museum and generous donations from our project funders.

On our web site you'll find the stories of over 1,700 soldiers, sailors, airmen and nurses ("The People"). All of these men and women served in the First World War and lived in the Kenora area at some time in their lives. Many of them had connections to Manitoba and thirty of those who gave their lives are commemorated on war memorials in Winnipeg and the towns of Dauphin, Langruth, Selkirk, Virden, Whitemouth, Beausejour, Tyndall, Oak Bluff and St-Pierre-Jolys. As well, over 200 of our veterans who survived the war are buried in Manitoba cemeteries, including about 90 in Winnipeg's Brookside Cemetery.

Other resources on our web site include lists of medal recipients, war dead, and veterans interred in Lake of the Woods Cemetery in Kenora. At least 570 First World War veterans are buried here, a remarkable number considering the size of the town. Fifty of these veterans are in unmarked graves and this summer the Last Post Fund will be installing grave markers for them.

In addition to these resources the exhibit "Husbands, Sons and Sweethearts" is available to view on the web site. It was presented at the Lake of the Woods Museum in 2014 to commemorate the start of the First World War. The museum will have a follow-up exhibit this summer called "Home Front: World War I and Its Effect on Kenora and Canada." The display is planned for July and August, to mark the end of the war.

New stories are being added to our web site regularly. If you have information or photos to share for any of "The People" we'd love to hear from you. Please contact the Lake of the Woods Museum at museum@kmts.ca or info@kenoragreatwarproject.ca.

If you are interested in the MGS Cemetery Update Program and would like to assist us, please contact Kathy on Wednesdays at the MGS office (204-783-9139) or by email at bkstokes@mts.net

A friend of MGS came into the Resource Centre the other day with information about the remains of a cemetery; there are some stones which are on the banks of the Red River in East Selkirk. They could possibly be stones from the St. Peter's (St. Pierre) Roman Catholic cemetery.

They can be accessed from the land side, but it may be easier to do so from the river, so someone with a boat may wish to assist MGS by searching for the stones and copying down whatever they can read from them. Please contact Kathy at MGS (204-783-9139) on Wednesdays or at bkstokes@mts.net.

Pig In Summer

A: I'm bacon!

"Bosworth, I'd like a word with you!"

Time to Renew?

With the electronic delivery of Generations, there is no longer a mailing label indicating your membership expiry date. Therefore the following procedures are in place:

For those members with an e-mail address on file with MGS, will receive an automated reminder a month before their membership expires requesting them to renew their membership. For those members without an e-mail address on file, they will receive a written reminder by post one month prior to the expiration of their membership.

To renew your membership you have the choice of renewing and paying online or by mail. To renew by mail, simply fill in the Membership Form located in Generations, attach a cheque made out to Manitoba Genealogical Society Inc. for the full amount (including branch memberships and donations) and mail it to the address indicated on the Membership Form. You can also print off the Membership Form from MANI by clicking on the following web site address: <http://mbgenealogy.com/membership/>. This link will also provide more information on MGS Memberships.

To renew on-line, sign into your MANI account. Once you have logged into your account, select Purchase/Renewal and make the appropriate selections (branch, associate member, etc.). Then select Purchase, and choose to pay via PayPal or by Credit Card, and follow the directions. If you do not have an MANI account you can create one on MANI or complete the Membership Form.
